Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Saturday 20 Feb 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Mild, but windy. Rather cloudy and damp.

Today:
Rather cloudy and damp on the whole, with strong winds and periods of rain, this heaviest and most persistent over the Pennines, with eastern areas often drier. Very mild, but tempered by the unsettled conditions. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Tonight:
Windy and rather wet during the evening, however rain should become lighter and more intermittent with time, eventually clearing southeast to leave clearer and cooler conditions in its wake. Minimum temperature 3 deg C (37 deg F).

Sunday:
A drier and brighter day than Saturday with some hazy sunshine, although the south may see some cloudier periods. Feeling mild, with lighter winds than of late. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Monday should see similar conditions to Sunday, ahead of windier and occasionally wetter weather spreading in towards midweek. Staying on the mild side.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.